YALE FAIR AND RACES.

Will Be a Success if the People Will Only Make an Effort.

To the people of this village and surrounding country is the responsibility resting as regards the success of our local fair to be held in this village September 25, 26 and 27. The officers of the society have made calculations and arrangements this year for one of the best fairs in the history of the association. They have offered large premiums and purses that ought to bring out a good display of farm stock and products. They have also made arrangements whereby the amusements and attractions will bring out the people in attendance. Prof. Elliott, of Jackson, Mich., during the fair will make a balloon ascension in his great air ship with a daring parachute drop, and the Driving Club have charge of the races on the last day of the fair, and you can look for some hotly contested racing.

Now it rests with the people at large to make the fair exhibit a thorough success. Let every farmer, every merchant, every business man, every woman and child bring something to the fair this year and make it one of the best yet.

Michigan Crop Report.

Lansing, September 8, 1894.

The average rainfall in the state in August did not exceed threefourths of an inch, or two inches less than the usual amount in this month. In July there was a deficiency of one and threefourths inches. There was a very light rain, throughout the State, general July 29, but none from that date to the first of September. With a drought thus practically unbroken during the two principal crop growing months of July and August, it is not difficult to estimate the condition of crops. They are dried up. Corn, potatoes, and the garden truck are damaged beyond recovery, the yield will be but a small per cent of an average, and pastures afford but little or no feed for stock. The fact that in a few localities rain has been slightly more abundant and crops are somewhat better, does not disprove the general statement.

There is little doubt that wheat will be largely fed to stock the coming winter. We hope to have estimates of the proportion of the crop. Our country miller writes us that he has already ground fifteen hundred bushels for feed.

Threshers returns of more than 68,000 acres of wheat threshed, secured by correspondents, show that the average yield per acre in the State is 16.65 bushels. The average in the southern counties is 16.78 bushels, in the central 16.20 bushels, and in the northern 13.95 bu. The total number of bushels of wheat reported marketed by farmers since the August report was published is 952,803. Of this amount 304,680 bushels were marketed before August 1, but not reported until late in August, and 648,123 bushels were marketed in August. The total amount reported marketed in the twelve months ending with July, which is the wheat year for Michigan, is 15,430,958 bushels.

The amount of wheat reported marketed since the August report was published, 952,803 bushels, is 290,066 bushels less than reported for the same time in 1893.
